

BULLETS FLY THICK IN AUTO CHASE THAT MAKES TOWN SIT UP

Port Washington's 6,500 Inhabitants Have Thrilling Night—One Ford Car Shot Up.

(Special to The Evening World.)

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y., Nov. 14.—At 1:45 o'clock yesterday (Wed.) when most of the 6,500 inhabitants of this thriving community were at the railroad station waiting for the 7:45 train to come in or were walking along Main Street on their way to the moving picture show, the quiet of the pastoral scene was suddenly and widely shattered by a pistol shot. The shot was fired from a Ford car at Main Street and Mackey Avenue. The car was moving at the rate of thirty miles an hour, with two occupants, a young Port Washington man, at the wheel, and Patrick White and Michael Blake, also Port Washington young men, in the front seat. One of them had a shotgoun pistol.

As the car whizzed by the railroad station two more shots were fired. Everybody ducked except Phil Weisenbach and Louis Saliz, mounted State policemen stationed here.

Neither Phil nor Louis had horns with him, they being too busy stable, but they couldn't catch the Ford with horns. The Ford, so they borrowed a car and started in pursuit. They reached the Ford as he went by and ordered that Constable Ike Strubell asked them to arrest him if he saw him because there was a warrant out for him.

Phil and Louis had a fast and they came up close behind. Ford was a half mile out on Middle Neck Road. After running a few miles they began firing at the Ford with their automatic pistols. Bang! bang! the shots rang out on the park road. Suddenly there was an explosion. One of the two men pierced the right rear tire. The Ford blew out with a loud report and the car ran into the ditch between the two State policemen, it down revolvers, arrested Constable White and Blake, but didn't find a revolver on them.

A resident of Roselyne happened to be passing at the road when Phil and Louis were shooting at the Ford and all three ran into the ditch. The Ford was reported to the Sheriff's office that two armed soldiers were holding up automobiles on the Main Neck Road. Members of the New York reserve were organized to go to the Ford and capture it half an hour after the shooting. The Ford was found in the ditch and the soldiers in custody. One of the men with the shotgoun pistol and all was arrested.

Cops and White and Blake were arrested before the Ford was towed to the station. The Ford was towed to the station and the soldiers were taken to the station. The Ford was towed to the station and the soldiers were taken to the station.

staying out on Main Street and talking over the shooting incidents which had transpired before their very eyes. P. M. There are two other men in the back of the Ford.

WIDOW ARRESTED IN HOLDUP

Found in Boston, She Is Brought Back to Hackensack.
Mix Anna M. Wilson, a widow living at Fairfield, N. J., is a prisoner in the Hackensack jail to-day, having been found in Boston, where she was living under the name of Mrs. H. Hart. She is said to have had a part in the alleged highway holding-up of Port Washington, a clerk for Max J. Cohn & Co., of East Rutherford, N. J., on Aug. 15 last. Bennett, charged to have been paid of $2,000. Joseph Appert, the chauffeur, and the clerk were arrested. An eye witness said he saw Mrs. Wilson in the Ford, and she was known to be friendly with Bennett and his wife. Detective Taylor went to her home, only to find her missing. He finally traced her to Boston.
